Hi, [REDACTED]
I'm not sure when I can pull away for an interview, but here's something for starters.

- The safety of our customers and communities is PG&E primary responsibility.
- PG&E continues to monitor the Dixie Fire in Butte County, and we have crews on-site to support first-responders.
- Firefighters requested a distribution line be de-energized last night for firefighter safety.
- Several transmission lines are now de-energized. As of 11:30 a.m., approximately 10,000 PGE customers in Plumas County are without power. We are investigating restoration options.
- It's near the footprint of the Camp Fire.

Dear Mr. [REDACTED]

My name is [REDACTED] and I am a reporter at North State Public Radio in Chico, CA. I am reporting on the Dixie fire currently burning in Plumas county, and I was interested in briefly interviewing you about the risk of power outages caused by the fire, as well as which areas might be affected. Please let me know if you are available for a short recorded interview today, over Zoom or phone if possible. Our listeners would really appreciate it.

Best,
