with the fire in Butte we are losing transmission and distribution power all the way to Westwood. I talked to and lassen is currently islanded with Honey Lake Power so Lassen should be good.

Well let's hope Honey Lake doesn't go down.

By the way I had the GIS team provide me a new KMZ map with all your lines in google earth. I did not like it. When your fire goes out I am going to put you into direct contact with our GIS analyst and they are going to provide you a KMZ file to your liking that you can open in google earth. Let me know when you get to that point
