No problem,

The path for the NY inspection was from the conference room near the front lobby directly to the lab going past HR. All of the bulletin boards from the lobby to HR were covered with paper so the inspector could not view any of the drawings or items on the boards. David Do assisted with placing the paper on the white boards.

I would suggest that the path to the Normandy lab be the stairs by the back door and walk through the shipping area or use the elevator if anyone has a physical problem preventing them from using the stairs.

Thanks, Kerry

(Kerry please delineate this based on what we did with the NY inspector recently and send that out)

Let me know if the path for walking the auditors in and downstairs has been cemented so we avoid areas that cannot be accessed, and what that path is.
