Given the criteria and logic this report is built on, I am very surprised that it is so valuable from an inventory planning perspective. I would have thought there are much better tools than this report (created many years ago) for monitoring customer demand. I would much rather have this report pulled entirely from production. Perhaps we can talk about your specific requirements and determine if there is a more appropriate report to help you. I will wait a bit for this discussion before pulling the report.

Suggestion

Is possible to change the name of the report and still be used by our department. The name could be changed to :"excess order report" or another name

It was helpful for to control the finished product inventory: (I revise the report daily)

- In some occasion we were able to view errors on the amount ordered
- Help us to prioritize products with QA/QC/MFG
- To advice Marketing if the entire inventory will be sold to one customer and prevent the S/o situation.

Thanks

Subject: SOM

The plan of the SOM team was to discontinue to 7.17.5 Suspicious Order Report after we have gone live with our enhanced SOM model. I would like to request that IT discontinue this report but did not want to do so without speaking to everyone. It is still unclear to me how Elizabeth is using this report and to what extent it will be relied upon in the future now that SOM is managed at corporate.

Please advise.

Thank You.
