

The University of California forged a partnership with the City and County of San Francisco in 1873 to provide health care services and train doctors.

Today, more than 2,000 UCSF physicians and staff from all four UCSF professional schools and the Division of Graduate Studies work side-by-side at the hospital with 3,500 employees of the San Francisco Department of Public Health. ZSFG is one of UCSF's primary teaching hospitals, where medical residents train under UCSF faculty and City staff.

UCSF at ZSFG offers the triple benefit of education, patient care and research. Each of these endeavors is world-class, evident in the high number of teaching awards, research grants and professional commendations showered upon the UCSF team at ZSFG. Best of all, the teaching, research and clinical care are not isolated, but work together providing real-time benefit to patients and state of the art opportunities for physicians and other providers.

2022 UCSF Staff Engagement Survey

The staff engagement survey helps UCSF understand our recent progress toward our shared goal of making UCSF an inclusive and supportive place to work for everyone. The data collected from these surveys will be reviewed to devise holistic intervention strategies for UCSF. Survey results also give managers and teams actionable items to improve the daily experiences of staff.
