2022-02-10 15:33:05	phines@bethsoft.com	2	Did you see this yesterday from the Xbox blog post? I'd like to reach out about this to understand what's going on over there.
2022-02-10 15:33:23	phines@bethsoft.com	2	To be clear, Microsoft will continue to make Call of Duty and other popular Activision Blizzard titles available on PlayStation through the term of any existing agreement with Activision. And we have committed to Sony that we will also make them available on PlayStation beyond the existing agreement and into the future so that Sony fans can continue to enjoy the games they love. We are also interested in taking similar steps to support Nintendo's successful platform. We believe this is the right thing for the industry, for gamers and for our business. (bold emphasis is mine)
